To all the world's medical doctors:

In the 5th century B.C. Hippocrates said "let food be thy medicine".

I second that thought and have created the cooking with the doctors. com website in order to allow all of the world's medical doctors to post nutritious and delicious recipes on this site.

Posting of doctor's recipes is free.

Doctors may include their business cards with each recipe.

Visitors to the site will note that I strongly suggest that they tell all of their doctors about the site before they begin cooking with the doctors . com recipes.

If you're considering posting your recipes on the site, please check out my business card and call me 24/7/365.

If you're interested in a great doctors answering service, please call me... the toll free number is the same.
